

Grafton Design

As a solo artist under the name "Grafton Design," I specialize in Symbolic Realism, using graphite and charcoal to create deeply layered, thought-provoking artworks. My pieces blend the realistic portrayal of the human form with symbolic elements, aiming to evoke emotions and provoke introspection in the viewer. Each artwork is carefully crafted with fine detail, using shading and texture to create depth and narrative. I believe in art that not only represents reality but also tells a deeper, symbolic story.

I also participate in four major art fairs each year, where I have the opportunity to showcase my latest pieces and connect with art lovers and collectors. These events allow me to engage with the public, discuss my creative process, and receive valuable feedback. Being part of these fairs helps me grow as an artist, and they serve as a platform to share the emotional journey of my work with a wider audience.
